Biographical note

Alice Stone Ilchman became president of Sarah Lawrence College in 1981. Prior to her appointment as President, Dr. Ilchman served during the Carter Administration as Assistant Secretary for Education and Cultural Affairs in the Department of State and as Associate Director for Educational and Cultural Affairs in the United States Information Agency (1978-1981). Previous to her time in Washington D.C., Dr. Ilchman was Dean of the College at Wellesley College (1973-1978).

Alice Ilchman's seventeen-year term (1981-1998) was longer than that of any other president of Sarah Lawrence College. Two major facility additions took place with the construction of a new science center in 1994, later dedicated as the Alice Stone Ilchman Science Center, and the Campbell Sports Center, the college's first physical education and athletic center, in 1998.

Later in her term as president the Rockefeller Foundation elected Dr. Ilchman to its Board of Trustees in 1995 and she received a Fulbright Award for International Understanding in 1996. Dr. Ilchman retired in the summer of 1998. She had a long association with the Experiment in International Living (now World Learning), was a trustee of the Council on Economic Development, and served as a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. Alice Stone Ilchman died in 2006.

Scope and Contents note

The majority of records in Dr. Ilchman's papers date between 1980 and 1999. They consist of correspondence, inter-office memos, reports, speeches, admissions documents, conference materials, budgets, financial aid materials, and newspaper and periodical articles. The records are organized into five series:

Series II. External Activities

Series III. Fundraising and Development Files

Series IV. Speeches and Writings

The collection also includes a few pre-1980 documents representing Dr. Ilchman's work during the Carter Administration. These materials have been placed in the External Activities series. Other pre-1980 documents pertain to the administration of the College, such as amended governance and by-laws. These have been placed in the Subjects (refer to Governance sub-series). Materials related to Dr. Ilchman's family, some of which predate her work at Sarah Lawrence College, were added to the Biographical Files series.

A notable portion of this collection pertains to Fundraising and Development. The records detail Dr. Ilchman's role in increasing the endowment of the College and in creating new endowed faculty chairs such as the Joseph A. Campbell Chair in the Humanities. A significant fundraising effort was the Walrus Initiative, so named for a remark by Lewis Carroll, "the time has come, the Walrus said, to think of many things." Planning materials, reports, and meeting minutes describe this multi-year initiative that lasted from 1985 to 1992. The records also document Dr. Ilchman's travel around the country to meet with alumni and major donors and her personal relationships with them. During her final year as president, Dr. Ilchman traveled extensively to meet with alumni and friends. The amount she raised in her last year of office was more than the endowment of the College in 1981, when she arrived on campus. Her efforts secured approximately $4.1 million in gifts to the College. Some of her thank-you letters and correspondence with "Associate" level contributors are included in the collection.

Also during Dr. Ilchman's term, the College worked to develop a stronger admissions program. While the College saw a 47% increase in applications between 1987 and 1997, the acceptance rate dropped to 46%, the lowest rate in 20 years. This was a clear indication of the increased selectivity in the College's admissions program. Her activities in re-evaluating admissions practices at Sarah Lawrence are highlighted in the sub-series of the same name in Subjects.

Dr. Ilchman's papers reflect her active interest in all aspects of the College from its grounds to multi-million dollar grant applications. During her presidency, Dr. Ilchman regularly worked with contractors such as Sav-a-Tree to beautify the campus with trees and landscaping. Correspondence describing her concern for the campus as a whole can be found in Subjects. Additionally, Dr. Ilchman worked to change City-University zoning laws. By seeking the advice of counsel, attending meetings and working continuously with the Yonkers Zoning Board between 1983 and 1987, Dr. Ilchman facilitated changes in the zoning laws that allowed for the expansion of the campus and the acquisition of housing for students. Another key group of records is Dr. Ilchman's Correspondence (filed in the series Subjects). The files document Dr. Ilchman's personal interest in faculty, staff, and students at the College.

Dr. Ilchman's files also reflect her efforts to address racial diversity on campus. Subjects provide an account of her concern about complaints from students regarding important social issues and her understanding of the importance of each individual student at the College. In addition to her regular duties as president of the College, Dr. Ilchman frequently discussed issues of education, women and the workplace and the importance of the liberal arts through speeches delivered on- and off-campus. These, along with her published writings, can be found in the Speeches and Writings series.

The folder labels consist of the title and date of the speech, the place or event, and the name of the sponsoring organization when the information is known.
